1.2 Concept

The head circumference is the size of the head as measured around the head.

1.3 Mindmap

1.4 Purpose

The head circumference can provide insight into the growth of a(n unborn) child. There may also be a smaller (microcephaly) or larger (macrocephaly) head circumference than average, which can indicate certain diseases or syndromes.

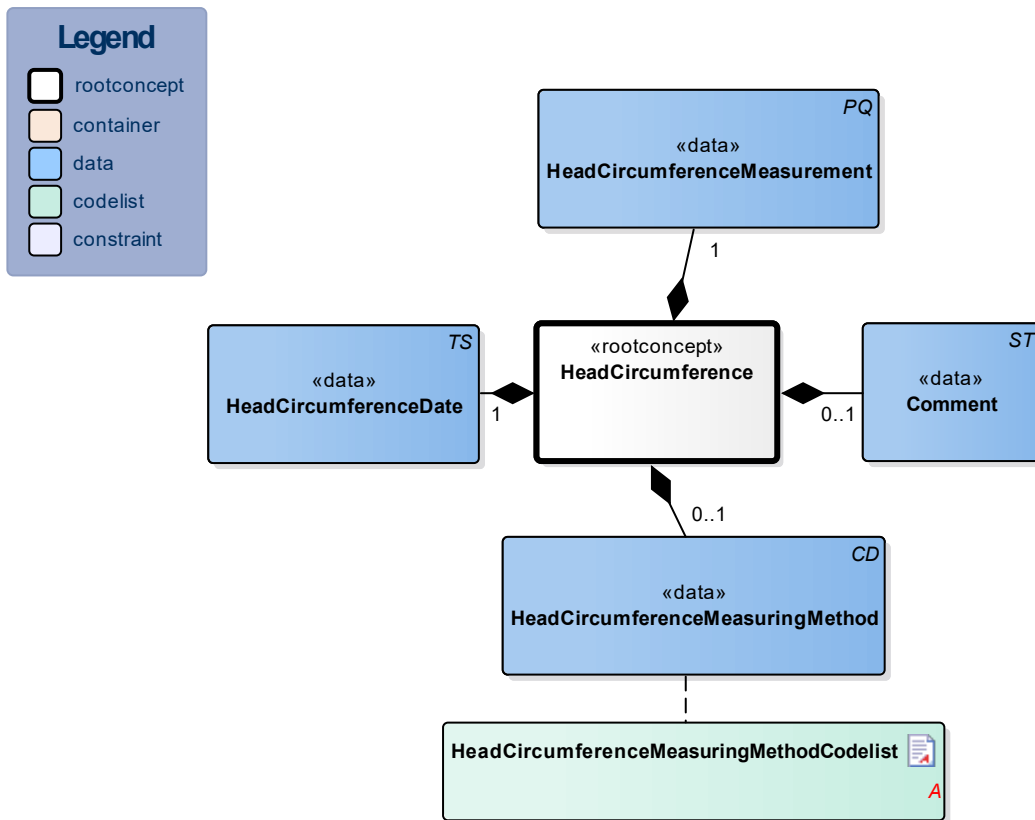

1.5 Patient Population

The HeadCircumference information model is meant for all patients, including unborn children.

1.6 Evidence Base

The definitions of the concepts were (partly) based on the guidelines Fetal Growth Retardation of the NVOG and PTEN Hamartoma Tumor Syndrome by the VKGN.
